INTERIOR DESIGN FIRM LUXUR LIVING SETS THE BENCHMARK FOR AFFLUENT LIVING WITH ITS KEEN ATTENTION TO DETAIL AND AN EXQUISITE TASTE OF INDULGENCE

TURNING A HOME INTO AN EXCLUSIVE RETREAT

for the family can be challenging when it comes to designing homes in an urban jungle, yet it is the ability to overcome such issues that make Luxur the interior design firm discerning homeowners approach when creating their perfect dream homes in the heart of the city.

In transforming this spacious 3,500 sq ft terrace property situated along Andrew Terrace into a contemporary abode for the family, the team at Luxur (headed by designers Beam Ker and Alan Neo) worked with the homeowners to highlight design elements that they desired in the new home. Inspired by the client's desire for elegant living, Luxur proposed a sophisticated design focusing on modern luxury, simplicity and space optimisation.

Suave Notes

In order to realise the homeowner's vision, the firm began with a complete overhaul of the interiors by knocking down the rooms and reconfiguring the layouts. The team concentrated on creating specific indoor and outdoor areas in the home, such as relocating the kitchen from the ground floor to the basement along with an entertainment area, the open-concept master bedroom and bathroom as well as the private courtyard.

The new look, consisting of clean lines, monochrome hues and a decadent feel, was achieved with the addition of premium European furniture, a rooftop Jacuzzi as well as a steam bath.

The Cooking Zone

The homeowner's request for a larger cooking space prompted Luxur to suggest moving the kitchen space down to the basement. The result is a posh fitted kitchen that not only has enough space to accommodate the wide range of cooking appliances, but also a separate area that can be used for casual entertaining when guests drop by. By using different textures and subtle design elements as accents in the room, Luxur was able to create a new kitchen in the home without additional remodelling work.

More Space For Rest

Taking inspiration from the presidential suites of five star hotels, Luxur created a swanky master bedroom by first combining two rooms into one. With the larger space, the team then proceeded to add in details to bring out a sense of luxe indulgence. Here, warm-coloured wooden floors combine with the modernity of glass to project a chic and contemporary feel while facilities, such as the steam bath, further add to the pampering atmosphere.

A Seamless Flow

One of the most captivating aspects of the home's design is its fluidity and how beautifully one room leads to the next without any sense of discordance. As a result, the openness of the spaces allow for improved interaction among the family members and add to the cohesive nature of the home's design. Of course, for the team at Luxur this is yet another success to its diverse portfolio of residential projects and offers a glimpse of what the firm can achieve.
