Characteristics of the GOAT zodiac sign

The Chinese zodiac, sheng xiao 生肖, is represented by 12 different animals and the Goat (or Ram or Sheep), is the eighth animal in the zodiac. It is recognized as a Yin (feminine) zodiac sign and usually symbolizes Peace, Harmonious co-existence and Tranquility. Thus, people born under this zodiac sign are believed to be considerate and sensitive. Because of their sensitive nature, they may be more apt to seek approval, recognition and respect. The negative aspect will be that they may impose too much on those around them due to their need for approval, recognition and respect. Their sensitive nature may also lead to insecurity and indecision. The Goat zodiac people are also associated with being artistic and talented.

General prediction for those born under the GOAT zodiac sign in 2015
Usually the luck of those born in the year corresponding to their zodiac sign is usually considered not so good. There is high possibility of them being getting entangled in financial difficulties, thus caution is advised in business and investment dealings. It is wise for them to avoid lavish spending and gambling and live within their means.

However, there are bright spots too as they should probably have smooth career path during the year, with opportunities for promotion, cooperation and will be able to avoid adverse situations. Expect some assistance from beneficiaries in difficult situations..
