HOME IS WHERE YOUR STYLE IS

“ HAVING A UNIQUE STYLE IS EVERY HOMEOWNER’S DREAM ”

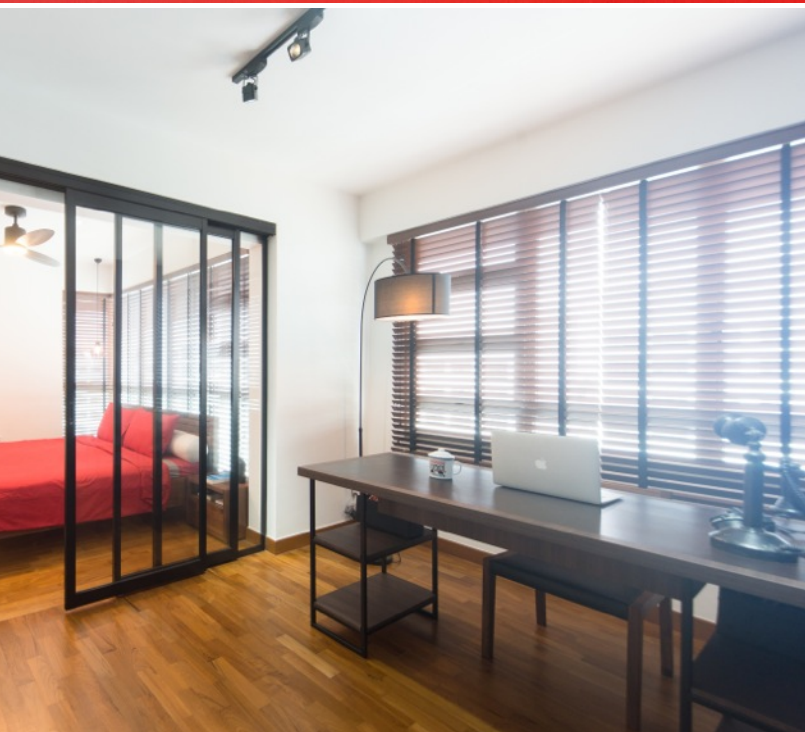

Step into this five-room apartment in Punggol Drive, and you are immediately immersed in a homely atmosphere, created by the use of natural wood, dashes of colour reflected in retro-styled living room furnishings and an extensive use of glass that segments areas within the home, while cleverly maintaining a seamless link from the kitchen to the dining area, and the dining area to the living room.

From the specially built book shelves in the living area, used to display artefacts and books that are telling of the owners’ unique lives and style, to the multiple use of glass doors to create separate living spaces throughout the house, the designer has deliberately kept the lines simple and precise. Along with glass, mirrors are a great way to create the illusion of space, and the addition of a large mirror in the living area does just the right trick here.

Still on the topic of space, cabinetry in the kitchen has been designed to make the maximum use of space, both for storage and counter-top daily use.

While the master bedroom was extended to incorporate a study/home office area, glass doors were installed to make a clear and clean distinction that separated the two areas. The look was kept homely in line with other areas in the house, through the owners' unique injection of colour, from a blue-grey wall to fire-engine red bedding.

Whatever your unique style, it's important to have a designer to add value to your ideas, and help bring together a look to call your own, and a space to call home.
